

Oregon Craft Gin Menu

The Bookworm is proud to introduce three fantastic handcrafted gins to our shelves. These are all craft-distilled, small-batch spirits from Oregon, USA, each with a great backstory, and excellent for sipping or cocktails.

Ransom Dry Gin

All Ransom spirits are distilled in a hand-hammered, direct-fired French alembic pot still, resulting in greater retention of aromas. The Dry Gin is fashioned after Holland's renowned wine genevers, combining maltiness and hop aromas with an intense botanical infusion. Highly aromatic, not least of which because it includes Oregon's iconic marionberry.

Ransom Old Tom

A treat for history buffs: Old Tom is a revival of the predominant gin in fashion during the mid-1800s during the golden age of the American cocktail. The recipe was developed by author, history, and mixologist extraordinaire David Wondrich. Aged 3-6 months in French barrels, giving it positively whisky characteristics.

New Deal Gin No. 1

The New Deal Distillery, based in Portland, uses natural and organic ingredients with water that's considered among the purest in the United States. Its custom-designed stills pull oils, tannins and heavier elements from the botanicals during the distillation. The No. 1 gin is distilled with organic juniper – and only juniper – creating a savory, deep, full-bodied gin with a crisp finish.
